

Jonné Smith, AIA

Jonné Smith brings over eight years of diverse experience in Architecture, Interior Design, and Urban Planning. As a licensed architect, she possesses a wide-ranging skill set and has worked across various project types, including Libraries, Mixed Use, Civic, Higher Education, and Religious buildings. Her passion lies in collaborative work to deliver innovative, functional, and high-quality architecture. Jonne views architecture as a tool for storytelling, focusing on creating immersive and eco-conscious community spaces and environments. Her commitment to sustainable and adaptive design reflects her dedication to nurturing inclusive communities. Currently, Jonne serves as an Associate and Project Architect at Moody Nolan in Atlanta, GA, and is an active member of the Atlanta Chapter's NOMA Board, holding the position of Project Pipeline Co-Director.